CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

Responding to the Shame: a Multidisciplinary Approach to Sexual Abuse is a conference designed to develop a more visible and coordinated network of service providers in Baltimore City who can effectively and appropriately respond to the issues faced by survivors of childhood sexual abuse.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Dr. Bloom's presentation will examine how we actively create and/or support a culture of violence and what goes into creating nonviolent, safe environments for healing and for living. Dr. Bloom's presentation will help participants:

- ✓ Discuss examples of how we live in a "trauma-organized" society
- ✓ Describe the various forms of safety
- ✓ Describe the shared assumptions for creating any safe environment

Dr. Courtois' presentation will provide an overview of different types of child sexual abuse and their prevalence. She will also discuss the various aftereffects of child sexual abuse across the lifespan in child victims and adult survivors. Dr. Courtois' presentation will help participants:

- ✓ Identify types of child sexual abuse and their relative prevalence
- ✓ Identify various aftereffects and correlations of a history of child sexual abuse across the lifespan
